Upon further review, the finality of the last Office action is withdrawn.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 13-54 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being clearly anticipated by O'Sullivan et al (US 7,037,538).

O'Sullivan et al teach the preparation of a yogurt containing confectionery pieces, wherein a heated lipid-based mixture is injected into a chilled yogurt as is claimed (see entire patent).

Crystallization would be inherent to that of O'Sullivan as the same components and process steps are used.
